'Axis Sally' Faces Trial For Treason

Nazi Broadcast Figure Returned To U. S. A.

By JACK ADAMS

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—U. S. marshals waited for Mildred Elizabeth Gillars to land from a Transatlantic plane today to greet her first return home in 19 years with a treason warrant.

Miss Gillars—better known to GI's as "Axis Sally"—is being brought back from Frankfurt, Germany to face a Federal grand jury here on charges she betrayed her native land by wartime broadcasts over radio Berlin.

The 48-year-old native of Portland, Me., was located two years ago by American authorities in Berlin, living a precarious existence in the ruined cellars of the bombed-out German capital.

She was arrested, but subsequently released to the American occupation zone on condition that she report every two weeks to U. S. Army authorities.

The justice department, pointing out that a prosecution for treason requires exact evidence and at least two witnesses to the same overt act, said that the inquiry into Miss Gillars' radio activities had presented "a prodigious task."

Miss Gillars left the U. S. in 1929 to study music in France. She went to Germany in 1934. The justice department said she took a job in 1940 with the official German government radio, then primarily engaged in broadcasting propaganda to England.

After American entry into the war, the department said Miss Gillars directed Berlin programs beamed to American forces in North Africa and Italy, where the troops gave her the names "Axis Sally" and "Midge."

Her program, called "Home, Sweet Home," allegedly was intended to persuade American soldiers to lay down their arms.

Ecorse Man Killed With Close Friend In Plane Crackup

Palmerton, Pa., Aug. 21 (AP)—A Detroit area industrialist and his close friend were killed yesterday when their private plane crashed into a mountainside in a dense fog.

The victims were Anthony Letwin, 38, the pilot, and Murray M. Taylor, 42, his passenger. Letwin was president of the Letwin Manufacturing Co., of Ecorse, Mich.

They took off from Detroit Thursday in Letwin's two-seater plane to attend a business meeting in Philadelphia.

Yesterday morning, they encountered heavy fog rising from the mountain valleys near here. Then the plane apparently developed engine trouble, witnesses said. It crashed into a 1,500-foot mountain that forms one wall of the Lehigh gap.

Japanese Take Back Control Of Ports

Tokyo, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Japanese government today was told to get ready to assume control Sept. 1 over all piers and port facilities at Tokyo, Yokohama and Kobe not required by the occupation.

General MacArthur's headquarters said in a statement the move was part of the program to return to Japanese the responsibility for rebuilding their economy and should "speed up considerably the rehabilitation of the nation's foreign commerce."

Alger Sends High Court Apology For Conduct of Black

Lansing, Aug. 21 (AP)—Secretary of State Fred M. Alger, jr., today apologized to the state Supreme Court for what he said was Attorney General Eugene F. Black's "conduct unbecoming the head of the legal department of the state."

Alger referred to Black's refusal to represent him in a suit filed to keep the Callahan "foreign agents" law off the November election ballot. Black contends the law is unconstitutional.

Alger filed his own brief with the Supreme Court and said he was acting without benefit of counsel. He has contended that supporters of the Callahan Act were entitled to have their side presented to the court.

House Group Hunts Red Underground

Subpoena For Mysterious J. Peters Drawn Up

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST

Washington, Aug. 21 (AP)—The House un-American activities committee today drew up a subpoena for J. Peters, described in testimony as a one-time head of the Communist underground in this country.

But there was no assurance that the mysterious, much-sought witness would talk even if committee agents find him and if he is promised immunity from deportation which immigration authorities are threatening him with.

Peters was arrested last October and released under $5,000 bond to await a decision on whether he should be deported as a member of an organization advocating forcible overthrow of the government.

Whittaker Chambers, self-avowed former Communist and now a Time magazine senior editor, has named Peters as the man who headed the Communist underground movement in this country prior to 1937.

Through questioning of Peters the committee hopes to verify some of the testimony it has received from Chambers implicating many former federal officials.

Committee members conceded that Peters, like many other persons named by Chambers, may refuse to talk. But they speculated that he might be willing to name names in exchange for immunity from deportation.

Sobbing Boy Dies In Electric Chair At Columbus Prison

Columbus, O., Aug. 21 (AP)—An 18-year-old boy from Youngstown died in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary last night with the repentant sobs of "I'm sorry, my God, Oh father, have mercy" on his lips.

Donald Frohner had admitted killing 52-year-old William C. Spieth, an Ashtabula, O., machinery salesman, in a fruitless kidnap plot against a schoolmate. The youth was pronounced dead at 6:09 p. m.

Hysterically young Frohner sobbed. "God, have mercy, God, have mercy," he pleaded. "I'm sorry, my God, I'm sorry, I'm sorry, X X X."

High voltage electricity stopped his muffled voice.

Policeman Accused Of Necking On Duty Draws Suspension

Detroit, Aug. 21 (AP)—Two Detroit policemen were under suspension today after Sgt. Leslie Eason reported he found one of them necking with a young woman in the back seat of his patrol car.

The other, Eason said, was smoking a cigarette outside the car. John Morgan, 25-year-old patrolman, was charged with being out of uniform while on duty. A witness said he had his cap off while sitting in the car.

No immediate charge was placed against his partner, William Winters, 31. However, Eason said both would be charged with neglect of duty, conduct unbecoming an officer, and permitting a civilian to enter a police car.

Danube Outlet To Sea Kept In Soviet Control

By OSGOOD CARUTHERS

Belgrade, Yugoslavia, (AP)—The Danube river—central Europe's one outlet to the sea—will remain under Soviet control regardless of the fate of the new Russian-dictated Danube pact.

(The Western powers refused to sign the pact which was initiated in Belgrade this week by Russia and her satellites.)

This control is virtually the same as that enjoyed by the Russians since the end of the war.

Western delegates to the Danube conference pointed out that under the new pact no shipper of any nationality could traverse the entire navigable part of the river from central Germany to the Black Sea without Russian approval. And it was made clear by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky at the meeting that Western "economic penetration" was not wanted.

Before the war, many nations used the Danube as an outlet for their goods to Eastern Europe. But the old governing pacts placed control of the river under non-Danubian states. And Russia's satellites said this led to economic exploitation to the benefit of "outsiders."

Now it is in the hands of the countries through which it flows, except Germany and Austria, and those countries are part of the Eastern Communist bloc.

If they want ships to go down the Danube and load and unload on their docks along the way, it will be the easiest thing in the world. If they don't, Western shipper may as well look for another river.

Norih China's Army Expects Aid Of U.S.

Gen. Fu Needs More Guns To Take Initiative

By SPENCER MOOSA

Peiping, Aug. 21 (AP)—Gen. Fu Tso-yi, commanding the inadequately-equipped government armies fighting the Communists in North China, was represented today as confident his position soon will be bulwarked by U. S. aid.

Fu wants more arms to enable him to seize the initiative. He is one of the few commanders in China with plenty of reserves. His only problem is to equip them.

The number of these reserves naturally is not known, but a good estimate is he has the manpower to form three to five new divisions.

Sources close to Fu, the commander in North China, said his optimism stems from his recent talks with Roger Lapham, who administers the $275,000,000 U. S. economic program for China.

Lapham is supposed to have indicated he would recommend that a good slice out of the $125,000,000 set up for military aid be spent in the five North China provinces which Fu commands.

The past few weeks have shown that while Fu, an able commander, has been unable to inflict a decisive defeat on the Communists he has at least kept them from gaining the upper hand in North China.

Detroit Truckers Sued By Railroad In Crossing Crash

Detroit, Aug. 21 (AP)—The Baltimore & Ohio railroad filed a $10,000 damage suit against a Detroit trucking firm in federal court yesterday as the aftermath of a collision between a truck and train at Sherwood, O., last Feb. 20.

Company attorneys charged that the tractor-trailer, driven by Earl E. Cox of Adrian, seriously damaged a diesel locomotive. They accused Cox of failing to observe proper caution in approaching the railroad crossing.

The truck was owned by the Michigan Motor Freight Lines.

Chrysler Lays Off 11,500 Next Week

Detroit, Aug. 21 (AP)—The ranks of auto workers idled by parts shortages will be increased by 11,500 early next week by a brief layoff at Chrysler Corporation's Dodge main plant.

Chrysler officials said the group would be laid off Monday. Three thousand will be recalled Tuesday while the rest will be back on the job Wednesday morning, spokesmen said.

After that the company will operate on a day-to-day basis until the parts shortage improves they added.

Chrysler laid off 1,100 Dodge workers Friday, and reduced the work day for 3,300 Plymouth division employees from eight to five hours. Again a lack of parts was blamed.

'Sleeping Beauty' Cured By Miracle, Mother Believes

Chicopee, Mass., Aug. 21 (AP)—The mother of eight-year-old Diane Parent, Chicopee's "sleeping beauty," says she believes the child was cured by a miracle.

Diane awoke this week after slumbering for 12 months. Physicians said she suffered from encephalitis, commonly known as sleeping sickness.

The youngster's mother last night ascribed the cure to "the miracle of prayer." She said she and her husband along with Diane's schoolmates prayed for the child's recovery shortly before she came out of her slumber.

The mother said she was told by physicians the extent of Diane's recovery is a rare development in this type of illness.

Ousted Red Consul Will Leave U. S.

Lomakin Books Passage Back To Moscow

New York, Aug. 21 (AP)—Soviet Consul General Jacob M. Lomakin, whom the State Department has expelled, has booked passage aboard the Swedish-American liner Stockholm, sailing next Saturday.

The steamship line said Lomakin had made reservations for himself and his wife and two children. It said it could not disclose when the discredited envoy had booked his passage.

Lomakin was not available for comment. However, Soviet Vice Consul Zol I. Chepurnykh said he knew "a couple of months ago" that Lomakin planned a trip back to the Soviet Union, although he had not known the date.

Meanwhile, Lomakin met with a new rebuff in his efforts to bring Russian-picked doctors into the case of Mrs. Oksana Kasenkina, central figure in the diplomatic dispute which touched off the United States' stern de-

Raids By Russian Police In Berlin May Cause Clash

Berlin, Aug. 21 (AP)—Russian officers told American officials tonight they would keep armed Soviet troops concentrated in uneasy central Berlin as long as the United States keeps its military police there.

BY RICHARD KASISCHKE
Berlin, Aug. 21 (AP)—Russian soldiers stabbed and beat two German policemen from the American sector of Berlin today when the Germans resisted abduction into the Soviet zone, western sector police announced.

The announcement said Russians carried the two Germans to the Soviet sector. The two plain clothesmen were stopped near the sector border by the Russians and ordered to go across, the announcement said. When they resisted, it reported, one was stabbed and the other beaten with a rifle butt.

While American authorities acted to head off a possible violent clash between the police forces of the eastern and western sectors, still another kidnapping incident was attributed to the Russians.

British authorities said armed Russians abducted two German policemen from their sector. They demanded the return of the men.

The latest abduction was the third carried out by the Russians in two days. American officials have demanded formally the release of three German policemen from their sector who were seized by the Russians during a black market raid yesterday on the American-Russian sector border. The Americans said the Russians made no reply.

The Russians served notice earlier today that they will keep up their lightning police raids in downtown Berlin. The sallies, staged along the western sector border, have brought the blockaded city to the brink of serious international incidents.

The American move was undertaken to avert the growing danger of a clash between Russian and western occupying forces.

This danger has become acute since the Russians began using their military police and soldiers to support raids by Communist-controlled German police on the borders of the U. S. and British-occupied sectors of the city.

American and British authorities have contended that in some of these raids against alleged black marketeers the Russians have overstepped sector boundaries. The western Allies have several times found it necessary to dispatch their own forces to the borders to preserve order.

Thus far clashes between the occupying forces have been avoided. But an American spokesman expressed fear that if the present tension continues "something might happen that will involve more than the Germans."

Guerrillas Fleeing Pellmell In Greece

Last Defenses Collapse In Grammos Area

By JUDSON O'QUINN

Athens, Aug. 21 (AP)—Communist-led guerrillas were reported in Pell Mell retreat in the Grammos mountains today after the virtual collapse of their last defense line.

A Greek army spokesman said National troops are rolling from the East and West toward a juncture that would trap 3,000 to 4,000 Rebels. The two Greek forces are only two and a half miles apart, he said.

The spokesman announced capture of Kilaia, last guerrilla stronghold in the mountain range, as the Grammos campaign entered the phase of final victory.

The fall of Kilaia followed seizure of the tallest peak in the Grammos range, a 8,265-foot height almost astride the Greek-Albanian border. A slightly smaller height to the north also fell to the National troops. This fighting was on the western end of the Grammos front.

On the eastern end, Stathmos and Horofylakakis were captured and the guerrillas driven out.

Thousands of spectators jammed the downtown sidewalks to watch the parade. Traffic was rerouted. Tonight the city will see a similar spectacle on a smaller scale when the 40 and 8 procession begins at the close of a banquet and band contest.

Henry W. Colmery, past national commander from Wichita, Kan., will speak at the banquet.

Yesterday's convention activity consisted of a brief business session followed by drum and bugle corps and drill team competitions.

The defending champions, the Buick Corps of Flint, again won the colorful drum and bugle contest. The Thomas A. Edison Post from Detroit took second place despite the accidental shooting of two of its trumpet players.

Blank Cartridge wadding from a small cannon used as a signal struck Richard Myers and Erwin Fath. Both finished the drill and then received treatment at St. Mary's hospital.

Mill Picket Gets Tar And Feathers
Holden, Mo., Aug. 21 (AP)—A man was grabbed out of a picket line and was tarred and feathered last night, Marshal Paul Snare said.

The marshal said Bailey did not recognize his assailants. One of the marshal's six deputies said they were white men with blackened faces.

TREE PLANTERS DEMONSTRATED

Use Of Machines Shown At State Fair

Possibilities for reforesting the millions of idle acres at an accelerated rate with the use of mechanical tree planters were demonstrated at the Upper Peninsula State Fairgrounds this weekend.

Three manufacturers—the Wagner Equipment company of Milwaukee, Harry A. Lowther company of Joliet, Ill., and L. W. Riemann company of Elsie, Lower Michigan—operated their planters at the fairgrounds.

The fairgrounds were planted with a five-acre plot. The demonstrations were sponsored jointly by the Upper Peninsula State Fair and the Upper Peninsula Development Bureau.

Demand Increases—Commercial manufacture of tree planters began only three years ago. Only a few machines were sold the first year, but the demand has increased rapidly the past couple of years. It is estimated that almost 2,000 machines are now used in the United States and other parts of the world.

Exports have mounted during the past year, indicating an interest in reforestation in Canada, South Africa, South America and in other foreign countries.

Get Better Survival—W. A. Klueder, St. Paul, chief forester of the Chicago and North Western railway, who has been promoting interest in the use of tree planters in the railway's territory the past couple of years, attended the demonstrations.

Scout Troop 453—Boy Scout Troop No. 453 will hold a regular meeting at 7 p. m. Monday in the First Presbyterian church. Registration fees for 1948-49 are due and should be paid at the Monday meeting. All previous members are invited to attend the meeting.

Canada Uses Planters—Although Canada still has vast areas of timber, the department of Pulp and Forestry has purchased machines for tree planting. The Mexican government recently acquired one for experimental purposes in pulpwood areas. Sales also have been made in Argentina, Czechoslovakia, Denmark and Norway this year.

It is estimated it costs only $2.50 per thousand to plant by machine, while the hand labor operation costs $7.50 to $9.00. The time factor is also important. With a machine two men can plant about 14,000 trees in an eight-hour day, while a good man can plant only about 1,000 trees by hand.

SILLO WRECKED BY WINDSTORM

Cota Farm At Danforth Hit In Freak Storm

Freak winds early today wrecked a silo on the Charles Cota Jr. farm at Danforth and slightly damaged the barn entry against which it fell, causing damage estimated to total $1,000. Electrical wiring to the barn also was torn down.

It was the third silo to be blown down within a one-mile radius in the Danforth farming community this summer. Earlier in the season silos on the Peter Gardner and George Larson farms also were destroyed in windstorms.

The storm at 6:30 o'clock this morning was accompanied by lightning and heavy rain. The high winds that hit the silo also flattened a field of corn east of the barn on the Cota farm.

The wind came from the west or southwest and hit only a narrow strip on the Cota farm, missing the house. The silo was 30 feet tall and had not yet been filled.

Mr. and Mrs. Cota were up at the time the storm struck, but they remained in the house. No one was injured. The loss of the silo was covered by insurance.

Lightweight Team Sets New U. P. Fair Record

Lightweight teams owned by Charles Roehl and Sons of Smith Creek, Wis., established a new Upper Peninsula State Fair lightweight horse pulling record here Friday afternoon, pulling a 3,225 pound load the required distance.

One of the horses in the winning team was a partner in the team that set a world's record of 2,525 pounds at Hillsdale in 1947.

Roehl teams won the first two places in the lightweight contest. The other winners follow:

Mike Dugan, Cato, Wis., third; Wilfred Cota, Wilson, fourth; Joseph Hamel, Champion, fifth; James Forest, Wausaukee, Wis., sixth; Roman Koepfel, Manitowish, seventh; George Izzard, St. Ignace, eighth; Roy Pearce, Richmond, Mich., ninth; Merle Armistage, Seymour, Wis., tenth.

In the Upper Peninsula contest, a team owned by Wilfred Cota of Wilson set a new record for U. P. teams, 2,050 pounds. Cota placed first in the contest but a team owned by Joe Hamel of Champion also set a new U. P. record of 3,050 pounds. Cota's team pulled a heavier load a greater distance than Hamel's team did.

George Izzard of St. Ignace placed third; Roy Harvey of Vulture was fourth; Bill Kell, Wilson, fifth; and Russell Izzard, Pickford, sixth.

Cota's team pulled a 3,225 pound load a distance of 18 feet, five inches.

PETITION FOR TRAFFIC LIGHT

North Escanaba Seeks Highway Safety

A special petition for a traffic light at the intersection of 12th avenue north and Washington avenue was heard by the Escanaba city council which met last night in the council chambers.

The petition was presented by residents in the Washington avenue area who want traffic coming into the city on the highway slowed. It was pointed out that the Webster school is also in that area.

The council moved to accept the petition and have it placed on file.

"In as much as eight months are required to secure a traffic light, I think the city manager should be instructed to take necessary steps to slow traffic in this area until other provisions can be made," Mayor LeMire said. The council agreed and authorized the city manager to control heavy traffic in that area.

Licenses Granted

Applications for SDM licenses for Peter and Angeline Kobasic and Raymond Feathers were approved by the council. An application for a tourist liquor license by Virginia Goodreau and Julius Courville was tabled for further consideration.

A dancing permit for James Kessler, at North 14th street and First avenue north, was approved by the council.

Bids were opened on the purchase of a new car for the police department. The council accepted the lowest bid, of the Brackett Chevrolet company. Three other bids were received.

A motion to raise yacht harbor rates in Escanaba met with favorable action by the council. The claim of Mrs. Ida Bowden who is presenting claims for damages for burns she received from fireworks used in the city on the Fourth of July, was referred to the city attorney for consideration.

A bid of the Harnischfeger company for city-owned property west of and adjacent to the fairgrounds, in the amount of $10 and other valuable considerations, was accepted by the council. The council also agreed to extend a five-year option to buy the property west of and adjacent to the recent Harnischfeger purchase to the Harnischfeger company, for a nominal consideration.

Bids for the sale of a weigh-lorry to the city for use at the steam plant were opened. The low bidder, Moline construction company, was accepted. The cost price is listed by this company at $1766. Two other bids were submitted.

Church Buys Lot

Two bids were presented to the council on the sale of city-owned property opposite the fairgrounds. The bid of the Church of St. Thomas the Apostle, newly formed in Escanaba parish, was accepted. A bid of $1400 was received from Coleman Nee and the church bid was $1500.

The council heard Claude Mehin, Jr., who discussed traffic and parking problems in the 1000 and 1100 blocks of Ludington street. Also heard last night were preliminary reports of the Renney well system engineers.

At the close of the meeting Councilman Logan told the council that it had been brought to his attention that it is very difficult for tourists and townspeople to receive medical attention on weekends because doctors were not on call. Councilman Logan asked if any action could be taken to remedy the situation. The consensus of opinion was that the

More Good News

ANNOUNCEMENT that the Harnischfeger corporation will establish a second manufacturing industry in Escanaba comes as outstanding and welcome news during the busy U. P. State Fair week.

Incidentally, the new plant, which will be devoted to the production of truck cranes and sugar cane loaders, will be located just west of the fairgrounds on a 12-acre tract, designated by the city of Escanaba for industrial use.

There will be no anxious waiting to see the new Harnischfeger project get under way. In fact, three carloads of structural steel were being unloaded on the site yesterday by the Austin company of Cleveland, well known industrial building contractor. More carloads of building material are on the way.

Construction of the block-long factory alone will substantially increase the community's payroll, for it is estimated that $200,000 will be paid out for labor in the erection of the building.

Why did the Harnischfeger corporation decide to expand its operations in Escanaba? Herman Menck, vice president and general works manager of the company, said he took a personal pride in making the announcement of the new project because in doing so he fulfilled a promise he made to the people of Escanaba at a Chamber of Commerce forum meeting a year ago. He promised then that if the Harnischfeger company finds Escanaba and its workers up to their expectations there would be more industrial developments in store for this community.

Mr. Menck said that the Harnischfeger corporation is well satisfied with Escanaba. This community, he pointed out, has a supply of industrious, reliable workers, which means much to industry in these days of strikes, featherbedding, slow-ups and other labor difficulties.

The Harnischfeger corporation will continue to manufacture electric welders in the old Steele-Wallace building, where about fifty persons are now employed. The new industry will employ about 125 men at the start, but the payroll may eventually go to 250, according to Mr. Menck.

But this is not all. The Harnischfeger corporation has taken options on adjoining land to have room for further expansion. Mr. Menck said there is the likelihood that two additional building units will be erected later, if the new operation works out satisfactorily.

Escanaba welcomes the Harnischfeger corporation again, for it is one of the outstanding industrial enterprises in this country.

Counting The Votes

GLADSTONE ELECTION RETURNS in the primary and general elections this fall will be materially speeded as a result of the decision of the Gladstone council to expand the boards from four-man crews to seven. Under the plan, one set of officials will serve during the balloting hours and the other set will come in after the polls close to count the votes.

The plan is a particularly good one and it is a plan that could well be adopted by voting districts throughout the county, including the City of Escanaba.

Heavy balloting is certain in the fall elections. In addition to the large number of offices being contested—state, national and county—there will be the usual number of amendment proposals. Election officials who work from eight a. m. to eight p. m. can hardly be expected to do a rapid, accurate job of counting the votes, a job which in itself will probably require many hours of tedious work.

By bringing in a fresh crew of men and women who are familiar with tallying to do the actual counting of the votes, the task can be materially speeded up. Moreover, there will be considerably less chance for error.

The Gladstone council has shown good common sense in its decision to expand the election boards. We hope that other governmental units will follow suit.

Sigler Favors Causeway

GOVERNOR KIM SIGLER said in an informal talk here Wednesday that he personally favors the completion of the causeway project at St. Ignace and that he hoped the project would be utilized to eliminate the bottleneck of traffic between the two peninsulas of Michigan.

Unfortunately, the highway commissioner, Charles Ziegler, does not support the governor's viewpoint on the causeway and as a result the hundreds of thousands of dollars already spent on the project will be lost until such time as Mr. Ziegler changes his attitude.

That the causeway project would improve the transportation service at the straits is readily acknowledged by Governor Sigler. The people of Upper Peninsula who recognize that the utilization of the causeway would more than cut in half the ferry distance across the straits should join the governor in urging Mr. Ziegler to reverse his position and to put the causeway into use at the earliest possible time.

There may never be a bridge or tunnel to flow traffic across the Straits of Mackinac but there is no good reason why the bottleneck cannot be relieved by the use of the causeway. Existing ferries would then be able to accommodate considerably more cars than they can at present because they would make more frequent trips in the shuttle service between St. Ignace and Mackinac.

Two New Liners

THE LAST AMERICAN-BUILT, American-operated passenger ship was launched in 1940. In the five following years this country's shipbuilding industry attained the greatest size and productivity in our history. But few of the wartime vessels are used or usable today, and none of them, of course, is anything like a luxury liner.

So when the war was over three or four European countries had a big jump on America in carrying a bumper crop of passengers. America's deficiency worried people in the shipping business for three reasons: the U. S. was missing out on a lot of revenue; it was leaving itself vulnerable, in a time of uneasy peace, to a serious lack of fast transports in the event of an overseas war; and it was dissipating the skilled nucleus of a vital industry through lack of work.

For three years there was intermittent concern over the situation. The president appointed a fact-finding group, the Keller Committee, to look into our shipping needs. The committee presented a long, detailed list of recommendations. Nothing much came of them. A couple of bills to revive the shipbuilding industry were introduced in Congress. Nothing was done about them, either.

Then the other day American Export Lines signed a contract with the Bethlehem Steel Co. for two fast passenger liners. They will be used in the shipping company's Mediterranean service, and will cost at least $46,830,000. The log jam of inaction was broken not by executive or legislative decree, but by the efforts of individuals.

Credit is due the members of the Maritime Commission and John E. Slater, executive vice president of American Export, for the start. After Mr. Slater persuaded the commission to increase the subsidy to 45 per cent, the members simply put to use the powers and money they already had. In two days work on the new ships was under way, although the keels will not be paid until spring.

It remains to be seen whether the 45 per cent subsidy will serve as the financial pattern for a revival of our passenger shipbuilding industry. But it does seem certain that it provided the impetus which will start some wheels turning, at least. Meanwhile, the first two contracts carry with them some very tangible benefits.

They will give 24,500,000 hours of work to 5,000 shipbuilders for 28 months. When completed, the ships will offer long-term employment to 1,100 officers and men of the Merchant Marine. They will add a yearly berth capacity of 60,000 to trans-Atlantic traffic which now is short some 600,000 berths annually. And from the standpoint of national defense, these ships will be able to carry 2,500 men apiece if they have to be used as transports.

Criticism Of A Democracy

A NEW (non-leftist) political party in Turkey is critical of the conditions which accompany ERP aid to that country. Americans don't relish having their helping hand bitten. But at the same time it is encouraging to see the Turkish government permitting political opposition, and permitting that opposition to attack its policies freely and without fear.

If the help of this democracy must be criticized, however unfairly and ungratefully, it is at least good to know that it is being criticized by democratic methods in a country which has not always allowed them.

WANT TO KEEP YOUR ARMS?

(Milwaukee Journal)

Driving with one arm outside the automobile is a dangerous habit. Yet hundreds of people habitually drive this way. Recently we saw a patrolman in a squad car doing it—of all people.

In this area a young man lost an arm when his car was sideswiped by a truck. At Clinton, Ind., a driver lost the essential parts of his elbow and will have a stiff arm for life. He had the elbow lying on the window ledge and protruding somewhat beyond it when the collision occurred. This sticking of the left elbow out of the window is a widespread habit.

Want to keep your arms? Then keep them inside the car when you are riding.

World Events Analyzed

BY MARQUIS CHILDS

McCall, Idaho.—In this election year Idaho was a vice-presidential candidate in Senator Glen H. Taylor, the running mate of Henry A. Wallace on the Progressive party ticket. Fantastic, incredible, amazing are some of the adjectives applied by political commentators to Taylor's theatrical performances before big-city audiences in the East.

But here in his home state they are not amazed or surprised. Taylor is acting perfectly in character in everything he has said and done. In some respects he is a very special case. As a frustrated, intensely ambitious, headline-seeking individual, he would deserve little attention. In some ways, however, he represents a type not uncommon in the west and in this phase he deserves careful consideration and analysis.

OPERATED TENT SHOWS

Taylor is primarily an actor with a large streak of him in his make-up. The Taylor tent shows were a feature of Idaho small-town life before the war. Glen usually played the leads in stirring melodramas that thought cheers and hisses alternately from audiences.

His wife helped him and so did his children when they were old enough to walk. At the age of three the oldest son, Arod (that's Dora, the wife's name, spelled backward) used to come on in a Chinese costume and sing a song in Chinese or what passed for Chinese. Glen, himself, wearing a 10-gallon hat, would strum a guitar and sing cowboy and hillbilly songs.

To translate this crude showmanship into political terms was not difficult. In 1938 Taylor ran for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Second district. He was defeated.

In 1940 he ran for the senatorial nomination. He was defeated. In 1944 he tried again, using the same tent-show technique and passing the hat to get funds for his campaign. This time he won the nomination and in November, with Roosevelt at the head of the ticket, he won again.

Apart from the guitar, Dora and Arod, Taylor's political stock in trade was a book. He talked about it at every opportunity. It was a kind of Bible to the yearning, ambitious, frustrated Taylor.

The book was King Gillette's "The People's Corporation." All industry, so the book said, should be held by a giant corporation in which every citizen would be a stockholder. The proposal bears some resemblance to the corporative state of Italian Fascism, although the concept is more naive and more primitive.

$30,000 PER YEAR

Taylor used to tell his audiences that under such a People's Corporation "every man, woman and child in the United States would get $30,000 a year." At the same time the working day would be reduced to two hours.

The singing cowboy may even have believed this himself. In urging a People's Corporation after the Gillette prescription, Taylor would at the same time assail the soulless interests in Wall Street, the monopolists and the greedy private corporations.

Out where the West begins this has always been a powerful political line. It is grounded in the real grievances of the farmer and the rancher in the days before the federal subsidy for agriculture. The railways, controlled by great corporations in distant cities, set the price the farmer got for his produce and he could take it or go hang.

Many radical movements have grown in the soil of this protest, fostered by angry denunciation of the soulless corporations. Taylor was plowing a field often exploited in the past.

Denunciation of "international bankers" and "soulless corporations" has a strong appeal for the rootless and the dispossessed; for those who are filled with resentment at seeing, or so they believe, even agriculture falling under the sway of the private corporation controlled by a few men in another part of the country.

In a sense Taylor is himself one of these dispossessed and rootless people. From denunciation of the international bankers it is just a step to the America First isolationism that Taylor expressed in his demagogic acceptance speech at Shibe Park in Philadelphia.

And here his kinship with the past is most striking. Taylor's isolationism differs only in degree from that of Idaho's statesman, the late great Senator William E. Borah. Borah, too, was known to talk of international bankers and their power.

On this same political wave length you can pick up Colonel McCormick of the Chicago Tribune. In reality it is a far-reaching resentment of controls that seem to be imposed from afar. No one seems to believe that the Wallace-Taylor ticket will get many votes in this state. But in a less prosperous time Taylor's theme song might have a much greater appeal and that is the reason his performance is not to be laughed away.

Worcester: Wish you'd tell Horace Heidt he's away off key on at least one pronunciation. Ask him to quit ruining my Sunday evening listening with his "cham-PEEN" for the word champion.—M. L.

Answer: Horace, please quit ruining her Sunday listening with "cham-PEEN." Better say: CHAM-pee-un.

San Diego: What about the word nightingale? Is it "NY-ting-gale"?—T. P.

Answer: "NY-ting-gale" is customary in England. Some American dictionaries list it as second choice. Best American usage, however, is: NY-ting-gale; or NY-ting-gale. Nightingale evolved from the Anglo-Saxon nightgale, "night singer."

Never Underestimate a Woman

Good Evening

ONE DAY LEFT—Tomorrow is the last day of the U. P. State Fair and as the big event goes into the finals there is recalled the sights and sounds and the smells of the 1948 fair.

After tomorrow's "thrill day" the fair will be only a memory—a memory of many people doing many things. 4-H Club boys and girls proud of their displays, Marching with banners in the 4-H Day parade; of a 4-H Club girl achieving five feet seven inches tall, who laughingly bent her knees when she had her picture taken with three other girls. She wanted her head to be on the same level in the photograph.

A memory of George Bishop, U. P. Development Bureau secretary-manager, coming back to continue his task at the fair although he was not too well and had been taken ill to his home soon after the fair opened; and a recollection of the efficiency of the State Police in keeping people away from danger spots near the rail during the auto races.

BIG EVENT—The U. P. State Fair meant many things to many people because some were there as spectators only, while others were participants. One of the latter was William Lutz of Chatham, dairy specialist, one of the superintendents of the dairy department. Lutz second son (they have named him David) was born on Wednesday but Bill kept right on working with time out only to dash to his wife's bedside in a Marquette hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Lutz will remember the fair as the anniversary of David's birth.

THE MIDWAY—Lots of new gadgets on the midway this year at the fair, including helium-filled balloons sold to kids who let the strings slip through their fingers. The balloons climbed faster than the aerialists in front of the grandstand and soon disappeared into the bright blue of the sky. Mama probably scolded Junior for letting the balloons get away.

You could wait around and see the human bullet shot through the air—up and up, over the rocket ride, over the ferris wheel—to land in a big net at the end of the midway. It's spectacular stuff. But that puff of smoke you saw wasn't from exploding gun powder. For the human bullet is propelled from the cannon's mouth by the force of a released spring. The smoke is for effect only.

LIVESTOCK—This year the livestock exhibited at the fair runs heavily to dairy cattle, which is in tune with the increasing dairying interest in the Upper Peninsula. Farmers and their sons and daughters groom the animals for better showing. The horns and hooves are polished, the animal's hide is washed and brushed.

In the poultry section the owners clean the birds and grease their bills, combs and wattles to make them shine. The beef cattle are hefty examples of what could be done in beef-raising in the U. P., and the horse has its innards in the pulling contests, one of the feature attractions.

Through the pine trees the metal-slided 4-H club building clatters, and inside that new building the boys and girls from all parts of the U. P. find overnight accommodations they might not otherwise be able to afford. Maximum use of the building may require that it be set aside for 4-H members from different counties on designated nights, says Ben Westrate, U. P. assistant state club leader.

AND PRAISE—Briefly we talked with Gov. Sigler, Senator Ferguson, Rep. Potter, and Charles Figg, director of the department of agriculture, all of whom were here for the fair. They praised the fair, and this you would expect. Yet we believe they were sincerely impressed and that is good.

For the Upper Peninsula has yet a long way to go to attain that state-wide recognition which will so much help it become integrated with the rest of Michigan. The U. P. State Fair is a meeting ground of its people and their interests: a show window and sales court that helps promote the industry from which its people gain their livelihood.

Escanaba—Rubbish burning in the rear of the W. R. Smith home on Fifth street got out of control at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon and the fire department was called. The blaze was quickly extinguished.

Escanaba—The Misses Fern and May Stacy left yesterday for a visit with relatives at Jefferson City, Mo. They were accompanied as far as Chicago by their mother, Mrs. Elmer Stacy.

Washington (AP)—A magazine carried a story the other day about a chimpanzee who acted "almost like a human."

I don't know the chimpanzee myself, and I dislike giving advice to strangers. But if he doesn't sue for libel, that chimp's a chump.

I don't suppose he could collect. But think of the fun he'd have, reading the newspapers as I have done, collecting evidence to show that nobody—not even chimpanzees, have as much fun as people.

For instance: In Hollywood, a bank has announced its plans for a Hollywoodian opening. The first depositor will be Dorothy Lamour. She'll show up, lift her skirts and extract a roll of bills from the top of her nylons. Lassie will be there, too. He'll deposit a bone.

Here in Washington, we've had the usual run of August divorce cases. One aggrieved wife complained because, she said, her husband had heaved a flower box (not pot) at her. And a husband declared that his wife had tossed a rocking chair at him. "Hit me, too," he said.

Local police got a request from a Columbia, S. C., visitor. He had been riding in a Washington taxi, he said, and didn't miss his package until after he climbed out. Had anyone found his family tree?

Showing that we humans are pretty much the same everywhere, let's look at the news from abroad.

In Argentina, passengers, sore because they no longer could buy tickets after boarding their trains, waged war on conductors.

One passenger tossed a conductor off a moving train. To even things up, apparently, another conductor took a pot shot at a passenger. He missed, but in the understandable excitement, the passenger fell off and broke an ankle.

In La Ciotat, France, 19 girls lined up for a bicycle race. Bang! Went the gun. Away went 18 of the girls. The 19th didn't because she couldn't; she'd been slightly wounded.

No, the official starter hadn't fired. No. 19's no longer sweetie had stepped up, shot his girl—and started the race.

In Tokyo, six Japanese psychiatrists studied Rikizo Hicano, overtime cabinet member accused of falsifying his political past. It might not do to put him on trial, the psychiatrists decided, for if the questioning got tough, you know what might happen to Hicano? He might become depressed.

Back to Washington for our wisdom:

A local resident looked through her binoculars, brought police cars screaming after she reported, "there's a lion loose out here."

The cops finally located the beast, a very sad, small feeble fox.

Said the woman: "Those places are stronger than I thought."

Unless a woman can earn $4000 a year—or maybe $5000—I think it is absurd, anti-social and uneconomic for her to work outside the home.—Frances Perkins, former secretary of labor.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY ROBERT S. ALLEN

(Editor's Note—While Drew Pearson is on a brief vacation, the Washington Merry-Go-Round is being written by his old partner, Robert S. Allen.)

Washington—Robert R. Young, scrappy head of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, is returning to the wars.

In an exclusive interview with the Washington Merry-Go-Round, the truculent little Texan announced his intention to make a new fight to gain control of the New York Central system, took a lusty poke at the Association of American Railroads, blasted both Democrats and Republicans, and denounced pouring taxpayers' money "down the vast China rathole."

Young was tripped up on his plan to become the leading railroad tycoon of the country when the Interstate Commerce commission, last spring, blocked his taking over the New York Central.

The ICC held the consolidation would be harmful to the Virginian Railway. This carrier, a competitor of Young's C. & O., has large contracts with the New York Central. Young now has it all figured out how to meet his ICC objection.

He proposes to take over the Virginian. "We will refile our application with the ICC," he said, "and include the Virginian in our plans. That consolidation will protect the Virginian's interests, and there certainly ought to be no objection to that."

"The Virginian is controlled by the Koppers company of Pittsburgh, a Mellon outfit. It is my understanding that the Koppers people have felt for some time they are skirting very close to the edges of the Clayton anti-trust act in keeping control of this railroad. If they feel that way, they should be willing to dispose of their stock. We'll be glad to buy the stock, and clear up the situation for all concerned."

ANTI-A. A. R. BLAST

Young's caustic antipathy to his fellow railway executives is not new. Time has not tempered it. He denounced the Association of American Railroads with unabated vigor.

"The A. A. R. has only itself to blame for the government's claim to hundreds of millions of dollars in alleged wartime freight rate overpayments," Young declared. "The association could have gone to the ICC during the war and openly asked for higher rates. The railroads could have gotten a 6 per cent profit instead of a measly 3 per cent. Then they wouldn't be facing a demand for reimbursement today when they can ill afford it."

"But, apparently, the A. A. R. wants litigation. It is run by lawyers who prefer to make big fees by litigating rather than working out a sensible settlement. In the meantime, the public reads about the overcharges and feels that fraud has been perpetrated."

"Another example of A. A. R. stupidity is the western rate case, on which a decision is now pending. That's the case in which former Secretary Averell Harriman (whose family controls the Union Pacific Railroad) was very mysteriously excluded from the list of defendants. I predict that the railroads will wind up by losing this case along with hundreds of thousands of dollars in fees to the lawyers. They always win."

"I know the justice department would have settled this case on a reasonable basis three or four years ago. But instead of doing that, the A. A. R. insisted on fighting. Now the railroads find themselves caught in an election year between the two parties. Both the Democrats and Republicans are out for blood and the railroads are a nice juicy victim—thanks to their own stupidity."

NO FREIGHT CARS

Young also placed much of the blame for the shortage of railway cars on the A. A. R. "The shortage is more acute now than it was a year ago," Young asserted. "The A. A. R. says this is due to steel shortages. If that is so, why is it that automobiles, airplanes, trucks and buses are being made in such enormous numbers? They have no trouble getting steel. Why can't the railroads do the same? Certainly, the A. A. R. has as much political influence as the auto makers."

"The real fact is, the association doesn't want to modernize. If it really did, it could get the steel. I charge a deliberate lack of sincerity on the A. A. R.'s part in wanting steel for the railroads."

PLAGUE ON BOTH

As Young sees President Truman, he is a far different man from what he was as U. S. senator. And Young doesn't like Republican Representative George Bender, Ohio, any better for what he is doing in charging the railroads with gyping the government on wartime freight rates.

Rosalie Dumas
Is The Bride Of
John Schroeder

In a summer wedding ceremony this morning at Sacred Heart church in Schaffer Rosalia Marie Dumas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Dumas of Bark River, became the bride of John Arthur Schroeder, Jr., of Spalding, son of the senior John Schroeders. The vows were spoken before Rev. Fr. Bernard Karol of St. Francis Xavier church and Rev. Fr. Pelletier was celebrant of the 10 o'clock nuptial high mass.

Bouquets of gladioli of varied shades decorated the altars for the service. Sacred Heart choir sang the music of the wedding mass and the bridal marches were played by Mrs. Blanche Seymour, organist.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father was preceded to the altar by her sisters, Juanita Ann, who was maid of honor, and Lily Mae, who was bridesmaid, and little Dona Maki, of Chicago, the flower girl. Joseph Kleinman of Wilson was best man for Mr. Schroeder and Robert Dumas, the bride's brother, ushered.

Bride in White Satin

The bride wore traditional white bridal satin, her gown styled with a high round neckline and lace yoke, long, fitted bodice, tapering sleeves and a full bouffant skirt, the front trimmed with folds of satin and rows of ruffled lace and the back extending into a full court train. Her fingertip length veil fell in soft folds from a beaded tiara. She carried an all white spray bouquet of roses, gladioli and snapdragons. The bridal aides wore like gowns, the maid of honor's, yellow, the bridesmaid's, pink, and the flower girl's aqua moire taffeta. The necklines were like that of the bridal gown with a wide shirring of the dress material edging the lace yoke, the bodices, long, and the skirts very full, with bustle bows.

All three wore matching gloves and small hats of matching material and starched net and they carried colonial bouquets, the flower girl's a miniature replica of the other attendants.

The gowns were designed and tailored by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Bertha Anderson of Chicago.

Mrs. Dumas selected a tailored aqua dress with black and white accessories and a corsage of white flowers for her daughter's wedding.

A breakfast for the wedding party and immediate family members and a buffet dinner for 50 guests were served at the bride's home. Gladioli were used to decorate the rooms and the bridal table which was centered with an all white three-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom. A wedding dance is being held this evening at the Bark River community hall.

The couple will live in Wilson. Mr. Schroeder, a veteran of the U. S. Army Medical Corps, is employed by the Anderson Barber shop at Bark River.

Traditional white slipper satin was worn by Miss Dorothy Mae Eis, daughter of Mrs. William J. Eis, 1316 Eleventh avenue south, for her marriage this morning to Clarence T. Kleinman, of Bark River, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. August Kleinman.

The vows were repeated at a 10 o'clock nuptial high mass at St. Joseph's church before Rev. Fr. Patrick McArron, O.F.M. Pink and white gladioli decorated the altars for the service.

The gown was fashioned with a snug fitting bodice with a row of tiny buttons down the back, sweetheart neckline, long tapering sleeves, scalloped hipline and a full bustle back skirt which formed a circular train. Her three-quarter length veil was edged with Chantilly lace and gathered to a Juliet cap of satin. She wore a three-strand pearl necklace, the bridegroom's gift, as her only jewelry, and she carried an all white bouquet of roses and gladioli.

Aides in Like Gowns

Mrs. Bernard Kleinman, matron of honor and Mrs. William S. Eis, the bridesmaid, wore identical gowns of pale green and pale pink organza over taffeta, styled with fitted bodices, short sleeves, full tiered skirts and taffeta sashes that ended in large bustle bow effect. Their elbow length mitts and open-crown scalloped hats were of matching organza. They carried bouquets of roses and gladioli with pink and green satin ribbons.

Bernard Kleinman served as best man and ushering were Harold Kleinman and William Eis. Escorting the bride to the altar was her brother, Robert L. Eis, of Chicago, who gave her in marriage. For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Eis wore a pink and black print boucle afternoon dress with black accessories and a corsage of white gardenias.

St. Joseph's choir sang the music of the wedding mass, the soloist of the mass, Mrs. Donald Wolfe, Mrs. Eldridge Baker and Mrs. Ray Olson. At the offertory "Ave Maria" was sung by Mrs. John Cass, and at the Communion George LaChapelle sang "Pannis Angelicus." Following the mass, as the bride placed her bouquet on the altar of the Blessed Virgin, her brother, Richard Eis, sang "On This Day Oh Beautiful Mother."

A wedding breakfast for 40 guests was served at the Log Cabin and a reception for 200 guests is being held at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. R. S. Warner, of Villa Park, Ill., sister of the bride, and Mrs. Robert Eis is serving the wedding cake. Flowers, the three-tiered wedding cake and tall cathedral tapers form the decorations of the bridal table.

Exchange Vows

Cream-white gladioli decorated the altars of St. Stephen's Episcopal church for the wedding this afternoon of Ruth Klabunde, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Klabunde, of Superior, Wis., and George M. Porter of Escanaba, son of Mrs. LaVerne Porter, 606 South Ninth street.

The vows were repeated at a one o'clock service before Rev. James G. Ward, rector of the church. Mrs. Charles H. Bisdée, organist, played "O Promise Me," "Because," and "I Love You Truly," and, during the ceremony, soft bridal music. The traditional processional, "Bridal Chorus" from Wagner's "Lohengrin" and the Mendelssohn's Wedding March, the recessional, also were played by Mrs. Bisdée.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a light gray gabardine dressmaker suit, with a becoming pill-box hat of the same shade of gray trimmed with a coque feather and veiling, and navy blue accessories. She carried a small cascade bouquet of roses of light pink, shading to deeper pink. Her matron of honor, Mrs. Francis L. Rogers, sister of the bridegroom, wore a pink suit with navy accessories and she carried a small cascade bouquet of Johanna Hill roses.

Leland Hardes served as Mr. Porter's best man, and ushering the guests to their places were Francis L. Rogers and John Porter.

Mrs. Klabunde wore a black and white ensemble for her daughter's wedding, with a shoulderette of pale yellow roses and gladioli. Mrs. Porter was in light blue and her corsage was of Johanna Hill roses.

A reception at the Dells for 75 guests followed the ceremony. The tiered wedding cake was topped by a miniature bouquet of sweetpeas and the sweetpeas pastel shades were used with tapers in crystal holders to complete the decorative theme.

Home In Ann Arbor

Following their wedding trip an undisclosed destination, Mr. Porter and his bride will live in Ann Arbor where he will attend the University of Michigan. The coming year. The bride, a graduate of Superior State Teachers college, has been a member of the Escanaba Junior high school faculty. Perfection Attained In Informal Small Home

Interesting Little Details Lift House From The Usual Run—Complete Living Layout Is Provided on the First Floor

It is the little house that attains perfection. Being delightfully informal it can at the same time be stylish and distinctive. Interesting little details have much more meaning than they have in a large residence and the small house can be so comfortably planned.

"The Whippany" offered by the "Home of the Week" Plan Service today is a perfect little house. 27x40 feet. Built of brick, and painted white, with the garage incorporated in the house design, it is lifted above the average small house scheme.

The plan is L-shaped with the garage and front entrance end projecting slightly in front of the main structure, allowing an attractive break in the long roof.

Little details make this house stylish. The front entrance is given simple importance by an arched-top door with its circle of glass. It has its own little pitched roof that melts up into the garage roof. The round louver in the front of the garage is in harmony with the front door and seems to give the whole end dignity.

A bank of three windows in the living room is close to the corner by the entrance and a single bedroom window on the front is well spaced near the end. Little brick wings are built out at each side to add further interest. One has a tiny gate and the other serves as a screen for the side of the house.

This little house invites simple planting at the front and gardens at the side and back.

On the first floor is a complete layout for comfortable living: living room, dining room, kitchen, two bedrooms, and a bath. Closets are numerous and generous. Stairs go down to the laundry and heating room in the basement, which can be either a full basement or half. Steps lead from the back entry to the back door or into the garage which is a great convenience in wet weather.

But that is not all. This ideal little house has two bedrooms, each with a generous closet, a bath, two linen closets and storage space on the second floor. The second floor is nicely planned.

A long central corridor is well lighted by an end window and the stairs which come straight up from the first floor make a narrow stairwell framed by a railing.

A long shed dormer together with a window in each gable end allow ample light and air for this second floor that can be finished when the house is built or saved for further development.

Complete plans and specifications for this house "The Whippany" are available at moderate cost.

UPPER CRUST IS SHOCKED

Guest At Newport Party Wore White Jacket

By ROBERT C. RUARK

New York—I have been ransacking the papers for a small scrap of cheer, and find little. I find gloom; I find Russians. There are villains, large and small, and always politics.

The spies, I suppose, you can assimilate, together with the heat. The high cost of living must be endured as inevitably as the humidity. But gad, sir, how is a man to bear up under the fact that the Count Kurt Haugwitz von Reventlow turned up in Newport, R. I., scandalously clad in a white mess, or monkey jacket?

It is not enough that they ask us to cover, cringing like a gun shy puppy, under the awful imminence of atomic war, with the crisis in Berlin as a cocked trigger of destruction for all. It is not enough that George Bernard Shaw has been denounced by the vegetarians as a phony, since carrot-munching agents caught him sneaking liver injections in dark corners. Atop all this we learn that the count, a former spouse to Barbara Hutton, adds his title to world unrest by having dinner at Mrs. Robert Goetz's wearing a short white jacket. Somehow, it makes the marital squabble between Artie Shaw and Kathleen (Amber) Winsor seem almost unimportant, as world news goes.

Social Error

I must quote a society columnist, Miss Nancy Randolph, for the horror that came upon Newport, the summer shrine of the nation's elite. She allows that Reventlow "just dealt this resort, through one of its most elegant hostesses, Mrs. Robert Goetz, a blow it may never, never forget. At Mrs. Goetz's dinner for 40 at Champ Soleil, with male guests in black tie and the servants in dark liveries, Van Reventlow stunned the gathering by turning up in a white monkey jacket.

"On such an occasion, formal as an appointment to the Guilloine, Von Reventlow's choice of apparel—well for a trombone player—was as dreadful a gaffe as though he had arrived draped in a barrel.

"A few guests were sipping their martinis, daiquiris and tomato juice cocktails . . . when in came Reventlow . . . As the others arrived, murmurs could be heard . . . 'Where does the Count think he is, at a beach club?' That's almost being a nature boy, isn't it rather? . . . He's an American citizen now, isn't he? . . . So why does he get himself up like a cadet at some European university?"

"Among shocked members of society present were the Lord and Lady Furnoy—recently arrived from England and staying with Fernoy's sister, Mrs. Guy Fairfax Croy . . .

The enormity of Reventlow's crime stuns the imagination. One can only shudder for the delicate sensibilities of the Goetz clan . . . Especially when you remember

Ranney Survey Shows Favorable Conditions For Heavy Water Yield

A Ranney water collector located at Sand Point would produce 4½ million gallons of water daily in cold weather and 5½ million gallons daily in warm weather, A. d'Audriffet, of Columbus, Ohio, vice president of the Ranney company informed the Escanaba city council last evening.

The Ranney official informed the council that the survey has been completed here and that the findings are very favorable. He declared that the quality of the water produced by the collector would be good, comparing in softness with the surface water of the bay. The bay water is regarded as comparatively soft, about 135 parts of hardness per million. The Ranney official guaranteed that the water produced by the collector would not exceed 150 parts per million and said that in all probability the water would only be slightly in excess of 135 ppm.

Cost About $162,000 The city's present deep wells are delivering water that tests between 180 and 190 parts of hardness per million.

d'Audriffet informed the council that the cost of installing a Ranney collector here, using double wall pipe that is required because of the sand formation, would be $122,000. An additional outlay, estimated at approximately 40,000 would be required for installation of pumps, water lines, etc.

The cost of installing a water filtering plant, which would be necessary if the Ranney system were not utilized here, has been estimated at more than $500,000. City Manager A. V. Aronson told the council that the maintenance cost for a filtering plant would also be at least $10,000 per year more than the cost of operating a Ranney collector.

The last test hole drilled in the Ranney survey showed a layer of gravel along the north shore of Sand Point and it is planned to test this area further if the city decides to proceed with plans to install a Ranney collector here. The potential of such conditions is considerable. If the area of gravel beds is wide enough, it could mean a tremendous increase in the potential volume of water available and also could eliminate the necessity for utilizing double wall pipe in the lateral collectors. The result would be a much more formidable system at less cost. The Ranney officials emphasized, however, that the potential of this area cannot be determined until further tests are made.

Daily Use 1,850,000 Gallons

The city's present water consumption is considerably less than the potential outlined by Mr. d'Audriffet as the findings in the local survey. The heaviest period of water consumption here is in the summer months at a peak of not more than 4,000,000 gallons a day. The Ranney collector would have a capacity of 5½ million gallons at a water temperature of 66 degrees. At 39 degrees, the coldest winter temperature of local bay water, the Ranney capacity would be 4½ million gallons per day. The city's average daily consumption over a period of a year is 1,850,000 gallons per day.

LIEUT. ZADNIK AIDS IN RESCUE

Gladstone Man Pilots 'Copter For Army

Lt. Robert Zadnik of the Army Air Force who is stationed at Westover Field, Mass., as a helicopter pilot with Army Air Rescue, assisted in the rescue of several Army fliers who crashed during maneuvers at a New York port. The New York Star pictured the rescue and showed Lt. Zadnik in a copter radiating details to the tower. Lt. Zadnik is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Zadnik, city.

The following is from the New York Daily News:

"A real-life drama of the skies—not originally scheduled—thrilled thousands at the New York International Airport Queens, when an air-search rescue team parachuted to the aid of the injured crew of a cracked-up scout plane.

"The Scout plane, playing its part in a demonstration of an Army maneuver, was circling under a C-47 transport carrying four parachutists when its right wing hit the ground about 1,000 feet in front of the reviewing stand.

The instant the plane crashed, four chutists leaped from the transport plane and after safely landing, ran to the scene of the crash.

"The incident gave the big crowd an unscheduled and true picture of what occurs on a rescue operation. The enthralled crowd also saw first aid given the injured men and then saw them removed from the field by ambulance."

HAZARD PROBEDExperiments Made On Highway 2 In Area

Highway U. S. 2 in this area has been subjected to a special test the past week to ascertain whether its tendency to become slippery when wet is a factor to warrant special consideration.

Representatives of the state highway department, under the direction of E. A. Fanney, of Lansing, along with members of the city street commission and the county highway department, have tested the highway in many parts of the city and in rural areas between Blaney Park and Nahma.

The procedure has been to flood the paving to be tested with water, drive on it at certain rates of speed and then suddenly apply the brakes. A special gadget records the location of the skid where the brake is applied and the skid is measured from there.

Finney made no statement as to the findings made in the survey. This particular vicinity has been the scene of a number of motor mishaps caused when the cars skidded on wet pavement. Some of these accidents have been fatal. Whether these mishaps were due to injudicious driving or whether the roads were to blame is a matter the state highway department has sought to ascertain by the survey.

MRS. DAVIDSON,
PIONEER, DIESFuneral Services Will Be Held Monday

Mrs. Alexander Davidson, 88, pioneer resident of Manistique, died early this morning at the Shaw hospital, following a several years' illness.

Mrs. Davidson, who made her home with her daughter, Mrs. William J. Shinar, was born, Mary Flora MacDonald, in Tiverton, Ontario, November 8, 1859. Her marriage to Mr. Davidson took place in 1879, and she spent her early married life in Winnipeg, Manitoba. She had lived in Manistique since 1887.

She was a member of the First Baptist church and was a Past Matron of Ida Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star.

Surviving are her daughter, Mrs. Shinar, and four grandchildren, Florence and Donald Van Marter and Elizabeth and David Shinar. Her husband died in 1920.

The "New Heaven" creed of which these people are adherents, numbers about three thousand people, says Father DePaz. He explained that it was a Christian faith, based upon the Bible. The ceremonial robes are worn while the members are "in sanctuary."

NEGRO CULT
VISITS HERETwo Bus Loads Arrive
Here In Regalia

Again Manistique residents have witnessed the showy spectacle of visiting negro cultists wandering about the streets and shopping in stores, dressed in flowing robes of blue and white.

Two bus loads came to town and spent a couple of hours, apparently enjoying the attention they were creating. Both men and women—even small children wore the colorful robes suggestive of costumes worn in some Biblical pageant.

Ishi DePaz, who bears the title of "Father," was one of the very few of the visitors dressed in civilian garb. (He wore a sport shirt and straw hat.)

Ten-Inning Mound Duel Dropped By Detroit Tigers, 5-4

Detroit, Aug. 21 (AP)—Two home runs were the payoff wallop for the St. Louis Browns last night as they came from behind to beat the Detroit Tigers and Stubby Overmire, 5 to 4 in 10 innings.

The game—14th and final night contest at Briggs stadium this season—was a real, old fashioned pitching duel through five innings with Art Houtteman, hard-luck guy of the Tiger pitching staff, matched against Ned Garver.

They called on Hal Newhouser (15-8) to even it up today, while the Browns sent Cliff Fannin (8-9) to the mound.

FEEDER LINE IS STARTED

Nationwide Airlines Is Serving Marquette

Nationwide Airlines, Inc., inaugurated its "feeder" service between Marquette and Escanaba Friday afternoon by carrying four passengers on the shuttle run.

Three University hospital patients from Ann Arbor alighted from the DC-3 on its northbound flight at noon Friday, and completed the rest of their journey to Marquette in a Cessna twin-engine four-passenger plane owned by Pioneer Aviation, Inc., of Escanaba. On the return trip from Marquette, the Cessna carried Mrs. Howard Smith of the Huron Mountain club, who was enroute to Detroit.

The Cessna leaves Escanaba airport at 12:30 p. m. and arrives at the Marquette county airport at 1:10. The return flight to Escanaba starts at 2:45 p. m. and arrives here at 3:25, in plenty of time to make connections with the large DC-3 returning from Houghton. The airliner leaves Escanaba at 3:55 and reaches Detroit at 6:35.

As soon as the new airport is ready at Marquette, Nationwide Airlines, Inc., a DC-3 will serve that area.

Lollipops Dropped To German Children In Hanky Parachutes

Westover Air Force Base, Mass. (AP) — The pilot of Berlin's last bomber isn't going to be caught without handkerchiefs if the 521st Air Transport Group at Meitz Air Base, Germany, has its way.

The men at Brookley Air Force base began rounding up handkerchiefs and candy Thursday to send to Pilot Gale S. Halverson in Germany.

Halverson, whose home is in Garland, Utah, touched the hearts of the Brookley men when he reported he was running out of handkerchiefs which he used as miniature parachutes to drop lollipops to the Berlin children.

The children massed at Tempelhof airfield to watch for the tiny parachutes when Halverson's plane arrives.

He is one of the fliers assigned to "Operations Vittles," designed to break the Russian food blockade of the German capital.

Halverson has designated his lollipop bombings as "Operations Little Vittles."

Harold E. Shublick, a Brookley captain, said the handkerchiefs, stamped "Operations Little Vittles," will be flown to Lt. Halverson along with the candy.

Reno Bawdy House Ordered Closed Before It Opens

Reno, Nevada, (AP) — Legalized prostitution isn't here to stay—not yet, Dist. Judge A. J. Maestretti decided Thursday. He ordered Mae Cunningham to close her house—even before she's finished paying for it—until courts can determine whether it is a public nuisance.

Earlier, Judge Maestretti dismissed a petition filed by Mae herself, asking an order to restrain county action against her. She maintained her $20,000 house was entirely legal, citing a recent district court decision ending a wartime ban on such establishments.

No date has been set for hearing of the district attorney's complaint that Mae is operating a public nuisance which should be closed.

Attorney Emerson Wilson, Mae's attorney, said there would be further legal action on her behalf, too.

Lifer At Marquette Granted New Trial In Fatal Shooting

Coldwater, Michigan, (AP) — A 53-year-old Marquette prison lifer, Stanley Marsh of Branch county, won a hearing Thursday on his petition to Branch county circuit court for permission to seek a new trial.

Sentenced in 1936 in connection with the fatal shooting of a 70-year-old Girard township farmer, Jay Bishop, Marsh claimed he was arraigned and sentenced within 20 minutes. The petition also contended he did not have the benefit of counsel.

The hearing was set for Sept. 14 before Circuit Judge Theo. T. Jacobs, the judge who originally sentenced Marsh.

At the time of the slaying, Marsh was employed in the vicinity as a farm hand. Officers ascribed the shooting to an attempted robbery but money Bishop had hidden in his home was not disturbed.

POLE FALL FATAL

Menominee, (AP) — Robert Anderson, 51-year-old St. Paul visitor, was killed Friday when he fell from a pole while repairing a wire at a farm where he was spending his vacation. Anderson, who had offered to fix the wire, lost his balance at the top of the pole and fell 15 feet.

PEACH KERN PICKED

Romeo, (AP)—Bernice Madden, 21-year-old Flint photographer's model, was named Friday as queen of the Michigan Peach Festival.

HERE MONDAY — Brig. Gen. Ralph Royce, chairman of the Michigan Economic Development commission, will speak at a joint meeting of Lions, Rotary and Kiwanis clubs at the Sherman hotel 6:30 Monday evening. He will discuss the commission's program to assist the Upper Peninsula in attracting new industries.

War Jitters Cure Suggested By Shaw

London, (AP)—George Bernard Shaw came up Thursday with a suggestion for scotching war jitters: produce a brand new political dictionary of common, exact words "to clear our heads."

"The matter is extremely urgent," the ancient bard asserted, "for the present confusion of tongues is heading straight for war, which none of the powers can afford and nobody desires."

Shaw set forth his views in a letter two-thirds of a column long to the Times of London. It is a way he frequently chooses for expressing publicly unsolicited opinions on vital current problems.

The playwright's appeal—that's what he called it—was addressed specifically to the British government. It asked for the appointment of a parliamentary committee "to settle our political nomenclature."

But in true Shawian manner, it had a global aim. Patently he meant that all nations might profit by the kind of dictionary he has in mind.

"Until we clear up our political nomenclature," Shaw wrote, "our political oratory and journalism can come to nothing but the pot calling the kettle black, without either of them knowing what they are talking about."

"We all lack a common and exact dictionary," he said, "and at dangerous cross purposes over imaginary differences and delusive agreements that are only verbal."

Shaw, whose own prose is generally considered among the clearest in modern times, went on:

"I myself find it impossible to make myself understood, though when I describe myself by this or that adjective I know precisely what I mean X X X. I am basically a Marxist Communist, but I cannot say so without being set down as an infantile advocate of catastrophic insurrection X X X."

Referring to the present differences between Russia and the Western Powers, Shaw insisted that "negotiation is impossible unless the parties use the same words for the same things and understand what the words mean. The present babel threatens a war that nobody wants countered by a flood of conscientious objection from those who think their rulers are backing the wrong horse X X X."

"Every liar needs a language that will enable them to lie unambiguously. To the truthful, the present impossibility of wording their messages without being misunderstood is an agony."

"A dictionary will not cure our habit of mistaking the association of ideas for logic, but it will do all that can be done at short notice to clear our heads."

Light Bomber Crash Kills 2 In Virginia; Third Man Missing

Culpeper, Va., Aug. 21. (AP)—Authorities today opened an investigation into the crash of a light Air Force bomber which killed two men near here late yesterday. A third man is listed as missing.

The dead were identified by the Air Force as:

Col. G. A. Stone, president of the civil air patrol executive board, Columbus, Ohio.

Tech. Sgt. C. E. Chaplin, of the Lockbourne Air Force base, Columbus.

The Air Force listed as missing Capt. H. L. King, also of Lockbourne, the pilot. Officials said there was a possibility he might have bailed out before the plane crashed and exploded on a farm in the southeast corner of Loudoun county.

The three men were in the plane when it left Bolling Field, Washington, to fly to Lockbourne. Witnesses said the plane was flying at tree-top level in foggy weather just before the crash. Only the bodies of Stone and Chaplin were identified.

Ousted Russian Consul Leaves

mand for his recall.

Rebuffed at Hospital

Roosevelt Hospital officials yesterday refused Lomakin's request that two doctors he had named be allowed to examine the Russian teacher, critically injured when he leaped from a fourth-floor consulate window.

The hospital said the doctors were not surgeons, and therefore not acceptable to enter the case. When informed of this by telephone, Lomakin was quoted as replying:

"If you do not let our two doctors examine Mrs. Kasenkina we will hold the hospital authorities responsible for the result."

Lomakin, accused by the U. S. of misrepresenting the facts in the Kasenkina case, has refused to comment on the U. S. demand to the Soviet Embassy in Washington that he be recalled to Russia.

Meanwhile, Dr. Grant Penney, hospital resident physician, said Mrs. Kasenkina, who suffered multiple fractures and internal injuries in her plunge, is "improving right along."

Mountain Fugitive Kills Sister And Self, Burns Home

Harrison, Ark., Aug. 21. (AP)—A blaze of gunfire amid the burning timbers of a crudely built frame house brought death yesterday to a 60-year-old mountain fugitive and his elderly bedridden sister.

The fugitive, Heywood Brown, held a 30-man posse at bay with rifle fire for ten hours before he shot his sister Dora, set fire to his dwelling on Buffalo River about 20 miles south of here, and then took his own life.

Director J. R. Porter of the Arkansas state police said the charred bodies of the brother and sister were removed from the smoking ruins late yesterday afternoon.

Officers had sought to arrest Brown on an insanity warrant.

Three Arkansas state policemen were wounded—two critically—in the siege which began Thursday afternoon. When Brown resisted officers settled down to a "waiting game" in the heavily wooded section near Hasty. This lasted until the fugitive opened a brisk rifle fire early Friday morning.

Officers returned the fire, but did so cautiously in order not to harm Brown's sister.

Skid Row Debaucher Saved By Music At Hospital In Detroit

BY EDWARD PRIZER

Detroit (AP) — A young mental patient's music career was launched Thursday night by the nationwide radio broadcast of the composition he wrote to restore his mind to sanity.

Nodding his pudgy head in time with the tempestuous music, short, stocky Ernest Salisbury stood in the wings of the outdoor bandstand at the state fairgrounds while the Detroit Symphony played the first movement of his work.

"It sounded terrific," the 25-year-old composer said afterwards.

But as Salisbury received a thunderous ovation from the audience of 14,000, his desperate struggle back to respectability from the squalor of "Skid Row" was vivid in his mind.

That struggle—the battle between sanity and insanity—was the theme of his composition.

Salisbury was taken to a mental hospital more than a year ago after what he said was a four-year debauch on "Skid Row."

"He had been drinking mixtures of rubbing alcohol, polish and aspirins," said Dr. Ira Altshuler, the psychiatrist who treated him. "He was emaciated and in terrible condition, but we were surprised to find in his pockets the notes of Tchaikowsky's music jotted down on scraps of paper."

That led Dr. Altshuler to use a treatment which had already worked wonders with other mental patients. The medicine was music.

Day after day, the patient listened to tunes from Tchaikowsky. After a while, as Salisbury's condition improved, he and his doctor began to write music together.

"So the Eloise Symphony," the work of many months, was created.

Crowds of friends forced their way backstage to congratulate the bespectacled young musician after the Detroit Symphony played his work.

Salisbury addressed the audience briefly and asked for "confidence in mental hospitals," which had done so much for him.

He will be ready to leave the hospital in two weeks," Dr. Altshuler said. "He wants his story told to encourage others."

YOUTH STABBED

Detroit (AP)—Cordell David, 17, told police he was stabbed Friday night by a quartet of youths who attacked him near downtown Detroit. He was taken to Receiving Hospital with serious knife wounds.

Appendix of Young Girl Pinned Down

Portland, Ore. (P)—When doctors got down to Dorothy Harmon's appendix, they found it pinned in. It was a straight pin sticking through the end, and a surgeon removed both the pin and appendix. Miss Harmon, 20, said she had been bothered by a pain in the side for years, but tests showed no appendix trouble.

The doctor said she probably swallowed the pin in her infancy.
